

Adventure Challenge - Puddle Reflection Photography!

Adventurers,

I hope you're all well and ready to get outdoors this weekend for another adventure challenge!

As the snow has melted and more rain is forecast there are lots of puddles around. So, I would like you to take part in my 'Puddle Reflection Photography' challenge.

Go on a walk and discover some puddles, see if you can spot a reflection of something in the puddle and take a photo. Maybe you will see a reflection of some trees 🌳 or the clouds ☁️ above it?

You might even capture the reflection of you or some wildlife 🐥 nearby? Perhaps you might capture the reflection of a bird 🐦 flying overhead or a building 🏠 towering over it?

Here are some ideas to get you thinking. See how arty and creative you can be. And while you're there you should get jumping in the puddles too!

Please send in your best photographs to Miss Beldham (lbeldham@nottinghamacademy.org) or add them to our school twitter thread:

I can't wait to see your arty shots!

Take care,
Miss Beldham
