

UNICEF Rights Respecting Spring Term Update

With a new term came a New Year and the perfect time to reflect on last term, think about our goals and aspirations for 2019 as we all tried to stick to those well intended resolutions.

The Rights Respecting Ambassadors had lots to think about, starting with the positive impact of our core values that the ambassadors have seen first-hand across the school. Looking ahead they will continue to monitor this within their year groups and across the school as a whole.

The Rights Respecting Ambassadors were delighted and overwhelmed at your generous donations for the Sneinton and St Anns Food Bank at the Christmas Fair. A huge thank you for all of your support with this. Following on from this we are planning for some of our ambassadors to visit the Food Bank to find out how those donations get used and how important this resource is for our community. This also links to this terms core value of Listening to Others as it provoked a very interesting debate in our last Rights Respecting meeting about why there is a need for a Food Bank. There were many interesting views on this and discussions around stereotyping, judgement and the need to listen to the needs of others. We also discussed the links to next terms value, Respecting the Environment and how Food Banks could have a part to play in reducing food waste. The ambassadors will be asking more questions around this when they visit.

All in all it has been a great learning resource for the children as well as supporting an invaluable cause for our community and we hope to bring you more news in the future on how our school community can continue to help...watch this space...
