Weekly Newsletter—Friday 17th October

Messages and updates:

Hello everyone, I hope you are having a good week and enjoyed the opportunity to meet with your child's class teacher this week.

We can't believe we're already at the end of this half-term! It's been a busy few weeks, and so much has been achieved across the school from brilliant learning, to participating in sporting trips or welcoming new visitors to the school. Over the break, please keep encouraging children to read regularly and spend some time on Times Tables Rock Stars (TTRS) to keep those skills sharp.

We look forward to welcoming everyone back after the holiday, ready for another exciting term ahead!

Thank you for your support as always,

Mr Staszkiwicz

Black History Art Week!

This week, we have been celebrating Black History Art Week, a special opportunity for our pupils to explore and appreciate the rich cultural heritage and artistic contributions of Black communities throughout history. Through creative projects and discussions, children will learn about influential Black artists and the stories behind their work. This initiative is part of our commitment to promoting diversity, inclusion, and tolerance.

On Monday, we were lucky enough to be visited by Miss Robin and Miss Julie who delivered a range of brilliant assemblies to all year groups about Black History in the UK and all children left with increased knowledge but also with big smiles on faces. Thank you to our visitors!

Music Mark Recognition!

This year, the music service (who we work regularly alongside) have entered us for the 'Music Mark of Recognition'. This means as a school we will pledge to advocate the importance of music education. Whilst also providing our children with opportunities to broaden their musical horizons by working with providers in our community and beyond! Music is a big part of what we offer our children at Nottingham Academy and this is further evidence of this. Well done to Mr Barker for all the hard work he has put into music over a number of years!

Parents Evening

A huge thank you to all our parents and carers who attended Parents' Evening. Your engagement plays a vital role in your child's learning journey, and we truly appreciate the time you took to meet with us. We are also incredibly grateful for the positive messages and kind words shared with our staff—it means so much to the team and reinforces the strong partnership between home and school.

Thank you for all of your support this half-term, see you when we return!
