Weekly Newsletter—Friday 10th July

Welcome and updates:

Good afternoon everyone,

It was a big week for all of our children this week as we had our two transition mornings on Tuesday and Wednesday in which children had the opportunity to meet their new class teacher. Having had the chance to walk around school, it was great to see classrooms so calm and children engaging positively with their new teachers ahead of next year. I have spoken to lots of children this week about transition days and have had lots of positive responses.

Tuesday also provided the majority of our children the chance to go and see the site they will be on ahead of next year. Due to ongoing work, children were only able to see one classroom, the hall and some of the outdoor play spaces but the majority of children left feeling very positive ahead of next year.

Finally, please keep your eye out on further information regarding next year over the next few weeks. We want to give you as much clarity as we can ahead of the summer break to make the start of next year as calm and organised as possible.

Monday is our last drop off opportunity before our Eco Leaders head over to the Future Makers site in Nottingham with all the bottle lids we have collected! Please keep supporting this and saving them when possible! One last push!

Uniform ahead of next year:

Thank you to all the parents that have spoken to me about uniform over the past few weeks. To clarify uniform will not change ahead of the next academic year. If at some point next year we do formally change name we will still not expect parents to immediately buy new uniforms for pupils. We are completely aware of how expensive uniform can be for parents and want to support you however we can.
